

PRESS RELEASE

27 April 2010

As part of their commitment to safety and on-going efforts to eliminating or managing risks, Gusher Pty Ltd recently held an information seminar on the dangers of sun exposure in the building industry. The Cancer Council of the NT conducted the seminar and was attended by Gusher staff and interested sub-contractors, and was open to all to attend.

Topics covered included the real dangers of skin cancer, self examination, UV ratings and the importance of PPE.

Gusher, which committed to the Federal Safety Commissioner's Leadership Charter in 2008, and was the first small building company in Australia to be awarded FSC Accreditation in September 2007 is pleased to advise that our Lost Time Injury Frequency and Medical Treatment Injury Request Rates (MTIFR) are running at zero respectively.

Although a small company, Gusher takes pride in its leadership role in achieving real and sustainable improvements in OHS in the building industry in the Northern Territory.
